Professional Certificate Program (e-PCP)

JULY-SEP 2025

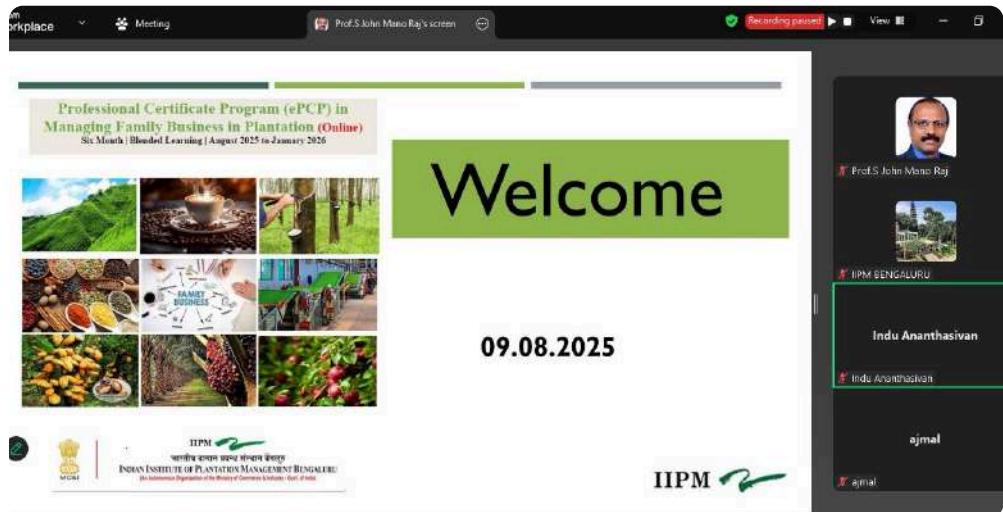

VOLUME 2

ISSUE 4

The e-PCP is an online/blended learning certification initiative designed to build specialized skills in areas like agribusiness, agri-export venture creation, and management.

Why :

- To standardize professional skills across sectors.
- To help learners upgrade their knowledge without attending physical training.
- To provide employers with a credible way to verify skills.
- To support students and young professionals in career advancement.

Empowering the Next Generation of Plantation Leaders: Professional Certificate Program in Managing Family Business in Plantation

IIPM Bengaluru proudly announces the launch of its Professional Certificate Program (e-PCP) in Managing Family Business in Plantation, a six-month blended learning program scheduled from August 2025 to January 2026. This specialized online program is designed to empower the next generation of plantation owners, family members, investors, and managers engaged in coffee, tea, rubber, spices, cocoa, and oil palm sectors.

As the plantation sector continues to evolve, many family-managed estates face challenges such as changing market dynamics, workforce shifts, rising costs, and the need for modernization. The e-PCP has been developed to help participants address these realities by equipping them with practical and industry-relevant management skills. The program offers comprehensive insights into modern cultivation practices, sustainability standards, digital tools, and emerging trends that shape today's plantation landscape. Through expert-led sessions and interactive learning, participants gain exposure to business planning, financial management, technology adoption, and strategies to enhance productivity and profitability.

A key focus of the program is to strengthen the professional capabilities required to run and scale family-owned plantations. Participants learn to make informed decisions, implement efficient operational practices, and explore opportunities for diversification, value addition, and market expansion. The course also emphasizes leadership development and succession planning to ensure continuity and smooth generational transition within plantation families.

By the end of the program, participants will be equipped to manage their plantations with greater confidence, sustainability, and innovation. They will be prepared to adapt to industry changes, improve the long-term resilience of their estates, and contribute to the advancement of India's plantation sector. The e-PCP ultimately aims to inspire the younger generation to actively engage with their family businesses and transform traditional plantations into forward-looking, competitive, and future-ready enterprises.

Ganesh Chathurthi Celebrations

27th August 2025, on the auspicious occasion of Ganesh Chaturthi, the Indian Institute of Plantation Management , Bengaluru, extends heartfelt greetings to all. As we welcomed Lord Ganesha, the festival inspired wisdom, prosperity, and the strength to embrace new beginnings, reminding us to overcome obstacles with positivity in both personal and professional life.

This year, Ganesh Chaturthi was celebrated at IIPM Bengaluru with great enthusiasm over three consecutive nights, featuring engaging games, fun activities, and team events that fostered unity and friendship among students and staff from diverse regional backgrounds.

On the final day, vibrant cultural performances by teaching and non-teaching staff showcased the collective spirit of the IIPM community. The celebrations concluded with the Ganesh Nimajjan procession, accompanied by an energetic DJ and group dance, bringing everyone together in a joyful atmosphere of harmony and festivity.

Hindi Diwas Celebration

IIPM Bengaluru has celebrated Hindi Diwas on 14th September with great enthusiasm, highlighting the cultural richness of Hindi and its role in national integration. The event featured rangoli, dance performances, quizzes, and speeches by students and faculty, all emphasizing the importance of preserving linguistic heritage and fostering unity in India's diverse culture. The active participation of the campus community made the celebration lively and memorable, concluding with appreciation for all contributors and reaffirming IIPM Bengaluru's commitment to promoting India's linguistic, cultural, and academic heritage.

CELEBRATIONS AT IIPM

Celebrating 79 Years of Freedom at IIPMB

IIPM Bengaluru marked the 79th Independence Day on 15th August with great pride and enthusiasm. The campus reflected a strong sense of patriotism, unity, and commitment to a progressive and sustainable India. The celebration began with the flag hoisting, followed by an inspiring address by Director Dr. John Mano Raj, who reminded everyone of the sacrifices of freedom fighters and the duties we uphold as citizens. The cultural program included a patriotic speech, a lively group dance showcasing India's diversity, and a soulful solo singing performance that captured the spirit of freedom. The event brought together students, faculty, and staff, fostering togetherness and respect. The celebration reaffirmed IIPMB's belief that true independence lies in nurturing responsible individuals who contribute meaningfully to nation-building and sustainable development.

A Harvest of Happiness: IIPM Bengaluru Celebrates Onam with Grandeur and Glory*Inaugural Lamp Lighting*Traditional dance

On 3rd September 2025, IIPM Bengaluru, came alive with vibrant celebrations for Onam 2025, organized by the Cultural Committee. The event blended tradition and togetherness, making it a memorable highlight of the academic year. The day began with a session on the cultural significance of Onam, where faculty members shared the legend of King Mahabali and the festival's themes of equality, prosperity, and unity, reflecting IIPM's commitment to cultural understanding.

The afternoon featured traditional games and cultural programs that engaged both students and faculty. A major highlight was the energetic Chenda Melam performance, which filled the campus with excitement and strengthened the sense of unity. Activities like Tug-of-War and balloon games showcased the institute's inclusive and lively campus spirit. The celebration concluded on a joyful note, acknowledging the efforts of the Cultural Committee and the support of the IIPM community in honoring India's cultural diversity.

AGRI-STARTUP STAKEHOLDERS CONNECT 2025

JULY-SEP 2025

VOLUME 2 ISSUE 4

The Agri-Startup Stakeholders Connect, held on 18th July 2025 at IIPM Bengaluru, served as a strategic platform to strengthen and advance India's agri-startup ecosystem. Organized by MANAGE-CIA in partnership with IIPMB, the event was coordinated by Dr. Saravanan, MANAGE, and Dr. K. C. Prakash from IIPM, bringing together experts, innovators, and institutions to create a meaningful space for dialogue, knowledge sharing, and collaborative opportunities.

Renowned speakers such as Dr. Letha Devi G. (ICAR-NIANP), Dr. Shankara M. H. (ICAR-IIHR), Ms. Divya K. B. (NABARD), Dr. Senthil Kumar Radhakrishnan (GPS Institute), Dr. Atul Kolte (ICAR-NIANP), and Dr. Nitya Raman (C-CAMP) added immense value to the discussions. Their contributions offered perspectives on finance, research, innovation, policy, and the future of agricultural entrepreneurship.

The stakeholder meet proved highly valuable for participants by offering direct access to insights from leading professionals across research, finance, technology, and policy. Startups were able to interact with investors, incubators, and support organizations, enabling them to build connections essential for growth. Through workshops, product demonstrations, and pitching sessions, attendees gained exposure to new ideas, received constructive feedback, and explored potential partnerships that enhance innovation and entrepreneurial development in the agribusiness sector.

IIPM conducted this stakeholder meet with the objective of uniting agri-startups and key ecosystem partners on a single platform to address information gaps and strengthen collaboration. Led by the coordination efforts of Dr. K. C. Prakash from IIPM and Dr. Saravanan from MANAGE, the aim was to encourage knowledge exchange, support emerging agripreneurs, and promote sustainable agricultural innovation. By fostering an environment of learning and partnership, IIPM seeks to contribute to the advancement of the agri-innovation landscape and position itself as a leading hub for agri-entrepreneurship and ecosystem building.

Benefits Gained by the Trainees

The training provided participants with practical and industry-relevant skills that directly enhance their operational efficiency and business potential. Trainees received hands-on exposure to millet and fruit processing methods, dehydration techniques, product formulation, pulp extraction, jam and jelly preparation, and modern packaging practices. They also gained knowledge on the nutritional significance of millets, primary and secondary processing standards, and branding and marketing strategies. Through expert-led demonstrations, discussions, and real-time practice, participants developed the ability to create higher-value products, diversify their offerings, and improve profitability. Most importantly, the programme empowered FPO leaders with actionable insights to transition from basic farming to value-added agribusiness.

Purpose of IIPM in Conducting the Programme

IIPM organized this capacity-building initiative to promote sustainable agribusiness development and strengthen FPOs' role in the agri-value chain. The programme was designed to bridge knowledge gaps, introduce innovative processing technologies, and support FPOs in adopting value addition as a pathway to increased income and market competitiveness. By connecting participants with academic experts and industry practitioners, IIPM aims to encourage entrepreneurship, enhance rural livelihoods, and contribute to the broader goal of transforming agriculture into a viable and scalable business ecosystem.
